COVID Update
We returned to regular service (no appointments needed) on May 11. Since then, we have seen a steady increase in circulation of physical materials, from about 2,300 items per month to just under 8,000. The increase in circulation of ebooks and downloadable audiobooks that happened during the shutdown has held steady: we are now seeing about 1,000 digital items circulating each month.

Following changes to State regulations on May 19, only unvaccinated people were required to wear a mask inside the library. However, as the pandemic has worsened, a City directive was issued on August 2 requiring masks to be worn by everyone in the library and other City buildings.

Due to the pandemic, we continue to limit programs to outdoors and online. The newly renovated Library Park offers a lovely shaded seated area for outdoor story times, and the front plaza was used for Harry Potter Day activities.

Mobile Library
We are still working with Public Works to select a van to purchase for the mobile library. In the meantime, Michael Tierney has been making deliveries to homebound patrons, building on his experience delivering meals for the Senior Center during the pandemic.

Library Construction Grant Application
We are closing in on finishing the grant application to the State Library for the replacement of our elevator. The application is due September 1, with supporting documents due later in September. Corporation Counsel has been assisting us with the process.
Book A Librarian
We have added a new feature to our website called Book a Librarian, which allows patrons to request one-on-one appointments with our librarians for assistance with computers or research. Although we have always offered this service, it is now more visible. We also offer the one-on-one appointment option for patrons using the public computers who require assistance with creating a resume or filling out applications.

Fine Free Libraries
More and more public libraries in Connecticut are ending their policy of charging late fees. Although we suspended late fees when the pandemic started, our policy has not been revised to permanently eliminate them.

Studies have shown that late fees primarily serve as a deterrent to low-income patrons who struggle to afford the fees, while elimination of late fees typically increases circulation and decreases unreturned items. Lost fees are still charged for items that are not returned after the items are due back.

The American Library Association has urged all public libraries to eliminate late fees.

We have heard from some Waterbury residents that they are choosing to go to libraries out of town to borrow books, since those libraries do not charge late fees.

Connecticut libraries that have permanently eliminated late fees include: Hartford Public Library, New Haven Free Public Library, Southbury Public Library, New Britain Public Library, Wallingford Public Library, and Stamford’s Ferguson Library.

Museum Pass System
After learning that LibraryInsight would no longer be available to host our museum pass system, we researched the available options and selected TixKeeper. The new system is up and running with our renewed museum passes.
Databases
We no longer subscribe to LinkedIn Learning/Lynda.com. They made some changes to their system which meant that we stopped having access to the database in June. We spent a very long time trying to resolve the issue, but their service representative never followed through with fixing our account.

We are instead subscribing to a database called Universal Class, which is offered through Overdrive at a fraction of the cost of LinkedIn Learning. While it does not offer as many tutorials, it is designed specifically for libraries.

We are also adding Ancestry.com Library Edition, which will enhance our librarians’ ability to assist with genealogy questions and can be accessed by the public at the library using either our computers or our wifi.

Staffing and Saturdays
We currently have six vacancies: three Librarian IIs, one Librarian IV, one Admin I, and one Page. We have been approved to fill three positions: two Librarians IIs and the Librarian IV position. The other positions are being left temporarily vacant by Finance for budgetary reasons. Additionally, we have two other employees who have been out on long term medical leave, creating a nearly 30% reduction in staffing for the public service desks.

We are scheduled to resume our Saturday hours on September 11. Being open on Saturdays is essential, as many of our patrons are unable to come to the library during the week. However, due to our current low staffing levels, we are unable to be open on Saturdays without reducing our hours on another day. After reviewing logs of computer usage, reference assistance, and checkouts, we have determined that temporarily closing the library at 5 p.m. on Mondays would cause the least disruption to our patrons. This would reduce our staffing needs on Monday from two shifts to one shift, making it possible to be open on Saturdays (the Saturday workers would have Monday off). The reduction in hours would end once we filled at least three of the vacant positions. We will also be reducing our program offerings until we increase our staffing levels.
